

The head-angle mechanism is causal: rotating the calibration head onto the evaluation family recovers transfer AUROC (four-open primary roster)

A. Rotate the head onto B $\rightarrow$ AUROC recovers
(random rotation of equal angle does not)

B. One law: AUROC is governed by the achieved cosine, however the rotation is produced

C. Labeled-budget recovery curve
(a small labeled set rotates A most of the way)

